Chris Chastain, second-generation owner of the business, has always focused on making Chastain's a customer service-driven company that keeps community at heart. Working his way up from stock boy, Chris and his wife, Tami Chastain, have worked to build ties to the community at all levels, donating to Clarke County schools, the Northeast Georgia Food Bank, and Project Safe, among other charities, educational centers, and community groups. "We have a responsibility to give back," affirms Tami. "When we turn around and put time and money back into the community, we continue that cycle of prosperity."

The Chastain's philosophy of customer and community service is enhanced by OfficeZilla's offerings. "OfficeZilla increases the opportunities and technology that we have access to, which an independent company couldn't do on their own," shares Chris. "In today's very competitive and very saturated market of office supplies, partnering [with OfficeZilla] makes us competitive." Chastain's now boasts a custom platform for business ordering, a portal for custom printing and stamp-making, and world-class customer service and billing support, among other enhancements.

"We're very excited to have Chastain's as part of the OfficeZilla team," states OfficeZilla President Susan Mintmire. "They just completed their first month with us, and we couldn't be more excited about their energy and their customer-obsessed approach to service. We look forward to helping them grow and to help even more Athens-area businesses."

Chastain's will continue serving their community as a local, family-owned business. More information can be found at www.OfficeZilla.com/Chastains or www.Chastains.com.
